Arrest in Union Street Stabbing Incident

Manchester Police have made an arrest in connection with a stabbing incident that happened in the area of Union St and Litchfield Lane.

After receiving a call on July 27, 2023, at approximately 10:50 PM, officers located a man with a non-life-threatening stab wound to his upper arm. The victim told police that an unknown male was not allowing his friend to park near his apartment. He went outside to talk to the male, and they got into a physical altercation. During the incident, the victim was stabbed.

Surveillance video captured a suspect wearing a white short-sleeved shirt with stripes, and as part of the investigation, photos of the individual were dispersed through social media.

Manchester Police identified the suspect as 34-year-old Edgardo Molina of New Boston. Molina was charged with First Degree Assault and booked in absentia as he was already being held on an unrelated domestic violence charge.
